

Handwritten Arabic text in a dense, cursive script, likely a manuscript from the Islamic Golden Age. The text is arranged in vertical columns across two pages. Key phrases are highlighted in red ink, including 'باب' (Chapter), 'فصل' (Section), and various titles like 'كتاب' and 'مقام'. The script is highly legible despite the density of the lines.

Copyright © King Saud University