

Handwritten marginal notes at the top of the right page, likely providing commentary or additional information related to the main text.

Main body of handwritten text on the right page, written in a cursive script. The text appears to be a philosophical or scientific treatise, possibly discussing optics or geometry, given the context of the adjacent page.

Handwritten marginal notes on the right side of the right page, continuing the discourse or providing examples.

Main body of handwritten text on the left page, continuing the treatise from the right page. The text is dense and covers most of the page area.

Handwritten marginal notes on the left side of the left page, providing supplementary information.

Handwritten marginal notes at the bottom of the left page, possibly concluding a section or providing a summary.