

Handwritten text in Arabic script, dense and covering most of the page area. The text is written in a cursive style, characteristic of older Arabic manuscripts. It appears to be a commentary or a treatise on a specific subject, possibly related to mathematics or philosophy given the context of the page numbers.