

Handwritten text in Arabic script on the left page of an open manuscript. The text is arranged in vertical columns, typical of classical Arabic manuscripts. The paper shows signs of age and wear.

Fragment of handwritten text in Arabic script, likely a continuation from the adjacent page. The text is dense and written in a cursive hand. The fragment is irregularly shaped, suggesting it was torn from the original document.

Fragment of handwritten text in Arabic script, similar to the one above. It contains several lines of text, some of which appear to be a list or a series of entries. The fragment is also irregularly shaped.

Copyright © King Fahd University