

Handwritten marginal notes in Arabic script, including a circular stamp and various annotations.

Main body of handwritten Arabic text on the left page, enclosed in a red border. The text discusses various topics, possibly related to the library's collection or a specific subject.

Main body of handwritten Arabic text on the right page, enclosed in a red border. The text continues the discussion or provides additional information related to the left page.

Handwritten marginal notes on the right page, including a circular stamp and various annotations.