

Handwritten Arabic text in two columns on aged parchment. The script is dense and includes various marginal notes and corrections. The text appears to be a religious or philosophical treatise, possibly related to the Quranic verses mentioned in the footer. The right page has a large, faint watermark that reads 'University'.