

Handwritten Arabic text in a historical manuscript, featuring dense script and some red ink highlights. The text appears to be a treatise or a collection of letters, with a visible title or section heading at the top. The paper is aged and yellowed.

Handwritten Arabic text in a smaller script, possibly a marginal note or a separate entry, located at the bottom of the page.