

Handwritten Arabic text on two pages of an old manuscript, featuring dense script and marginalia. The text is written in a cursive style, with some words highlighted in red ink. The pages are filled with dense script, including a large central column and smaller marginal notes. The ink is dark, and the paper shows signs of age and wear.