

Handwritten text in Arabic script on the left page of an open manuscript. The text is densely packed and covers the entire page, with some headings and sub-sections. The script is in a traditional style, likely from the late medieval or early modern period.

Handwritten text in Arabic script on the right page of an open manuscript. Similar to the left page, it contains dense handwritten text in Arabic script, with some headings and sub-sections. The script is consistent with the left page, suggesting a continuous text or a related section.