

Handwritten Arabic text in two columns on aged, stained paper. The script is a cursive style, likely Maghrebi or similar. The text is dense and covers most of the page area, with some marginalia. The paper shows signs of significant wear, including foxing and staining, particularly at the bottom and right edges.