

Handwritten text in Persian script, likely a manuscript or a collection of poems. The text is densely packed and covers both pages of the open book. The script is a cursive style, characteristic of historical Persian manuscripts. The text is arranged in vertical columns, with some lines starting with larger, decorative initial letters. The paper shows signs of age, including yellowing and some staining. The binding of the book is visible at the top and bottom edges.

Copyrighted by University