

Handwritten text in Arabic script, likely a manuscript or letter, covering both pages of the open book. The text is dense and appears to be a formal document or a significant correspondence. The script is written in a cursive style characteristic of historical Arabic manuscripts. The text is arranged in several columns on each page, with some lines starting with large, decorative initial letters. The paper shows signs of age, including yellowing and some staining.

Copyright © King Saud University