

Handwritten Arabic text on two pages of an old manuscript. The text is dense and includes various words and phrases, some written vertically in the margins. The script is a cursive style typical of classical Arabic manuscripts.