

Handwritten Arabic text in two columns, likely a manuscript or treatise. The text is dense and includes various annotations and marginalia. The right page contains a large block of text, while the left page has more fragmented and scattered text. The script is a traditional Arabic cursive style.

Handwritten Arabic text in the left margin, including the word 'كل' (Kull) and other fragments. The text is written vertically and appears to be commentary or additional notes related to the main text.

Handwritten Arabic text in the right margin, including the word 'كل' (Kull) and other fragments. The text is written vertically and appears to be commentary or additional notes related to the main text.