

Handwritten Arabic text in a historical manuscript, likely a collection of letters or a treatise. The text is densely packed and includes several prominent headings in red ink:

- وكتبه المال (Written by the money)
- الصلوات الخيرة (The best of prayers)
- ما بينت اذا اجتمعت (What appeared when gathered)
- ابو برة الصيام (Abu Bura' the fasting)

The manuscript is written in a cursive style with some corrections and marginal notes. A circular library stamp is visible on the right page.
