

Handwritten Arabic text in a dense script, likely a philosophical or legal treatise. The text is arranged in columns across two pages. Marginal notes are present on both sides, written in a smaller hand. The main text discusses concepts such as 'العلم' (knowledge), 'الاعتقاد' (belief), and 'الصدق' (truth). The script is highly cursive and characteristic of classical Islamic manuscripts.