

Handwritten manuscript with dense Arabic script, likely a treatise or collection of letters. The text is arranged in columns and includes several red-bordered sections containing larger text, possibly headings or specific letters. The script is highly cursive and fills most of the page area.

Co...ersity