

King's

University

Copyright © King's

Handwritten Arabic text in a dense script, likely a manuscript or a page from a book. The text is arranged in vertical columns, with some lines starting with red ink. The script is highly cursive and compact. There are some larger, more prominent words or phrases that stand out from the rest of the text.

Handwritten Arabic text on a separate strip of paper, possibly a note or a correction. The text is written in a similar cursive style to the main manuscript. It appears to be a list or a series of short paragraphs, with some lines starting with red ink. The paper is slightly aged and has some staining.