

Handwritten Arabic text in a dense, cursive script, likely a manuscript or a collection of letters. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper and covers most of the page. Some words are written in red ink (rubrication). The script is highly legible but very compact.

Handwritten Arabic text on a separate sheet of paper, possibly a continuation or a related document. The script is consistent with the main manuscript. The paper is also aged and yellowed. The text is written in a similar dense, cursive style.

A smaller, separate sheet of handwritten Arabic text, possibly a note or a short letter. It is written on a piece of paper that is slightly larger than the others. The script is the same as the other documents. The text is written in a similar dense, cursive style.
