

Handwritten Arabic text in a central column on both pages, with marginalia in smaller script on the left and right sides. The text appears to be a philosophical or linguistic treatise, possibly related to the 'Fihrist' or 'Risala' of Ibn Khaldun. The central text is written in a clear, bold hand, while the marginalia are more densely packed and written in a smaller, cursive hand. The pages are aged and show some wear, with the binding visible at the top and bottom edges.

Copyright watermark text: "Copyrighted material" and "www.pdfsharp.com" is visible across the bottom of the pages.
