

Handwritten manuscript page with red and black ink. The text is densely packed with Arabic script, including a large central section with a red border and several smaller sections. The page is part of an open book, with the adjacent page visible on the left.

Handwritten manuscript page, likely the reverse side of the page shown on the left. It contains dense Arabic text, mostly in black ink, with some red ink used for emphasis or headings. The page is part of an open book.

Copyrighted by Saudi University